

Phonics

Phonics is taught daily in a highly structured programme of lessons. Groups are differentiated according to children's phonological awareness and these are re-arranged as, and when, necessary to meet the individual's needs.

We follow the Read Write Inc order of teaching which is both lively and vigorous.

Each day we re-visit previously learnt skills, teach new skills, practise skills and then apply what we have learned. This provides a synthetic approach to teaching phonics where children learn to pronounce letters and groups of letters as pure sounds which are then blended together to make a word.

We supplement our teaching with Jolly Phonics, Phonics Play and Education City.
